The Global Public Private Partnership

Policy Makers

This is the part of the GPPP where policy originates

B.I.S.

Bank for International Settlements (B.I.S.)

They ultimately control the money supply and thus global markets, trade and national economies.

Central Banks

Central Banks (Coordinated by the B.I.S.)

They are "going direct" and directly funding government spending. Monetary policy has effectively become fiscal policy.

Think Tanks & Global Representative Groups

These formulate the policies to achieve GPPP objectives. Resource allocation determined by the B.I.S. and Central Banks but they work in "partnership" with the think tanks and the representative bodies to convert that into global political policy.

I.P.C.C

These organisations and bodies take policy directives from the policy makers and distribute them to the policy enforcers.

Policy Enforcers

National Governments
Civil Service, NHS, RRU, IPSO, Ofcom, Police, Military, Courts, Local Governments, Statutory Agencies etc.

Selected Scientific Authorities

SAGE, NERVTAG, ICL, MHRA, JCVI etc.

The Policy Enforcers exploit or work with the Selected Scientific Authorities to justify the policies they are required to enforce.

Policy Propagandists

Propagandists and Hybrid Warfare Specialists

M.S.M, Fact Checkers (Politifact, Full Fact etc.), Social Media Platforms, Hybrid Warriors (77th Brigade, Huteighteen etc.), Anti-Hate Campaigners (CCE, CCDH etc)

The propagandists and hybrid warfare specialists are tasked with convincing the public to accept and hopefully believe in the policies. They use psychological manipulation, disinformation, misinformation, censorship and propaganda.

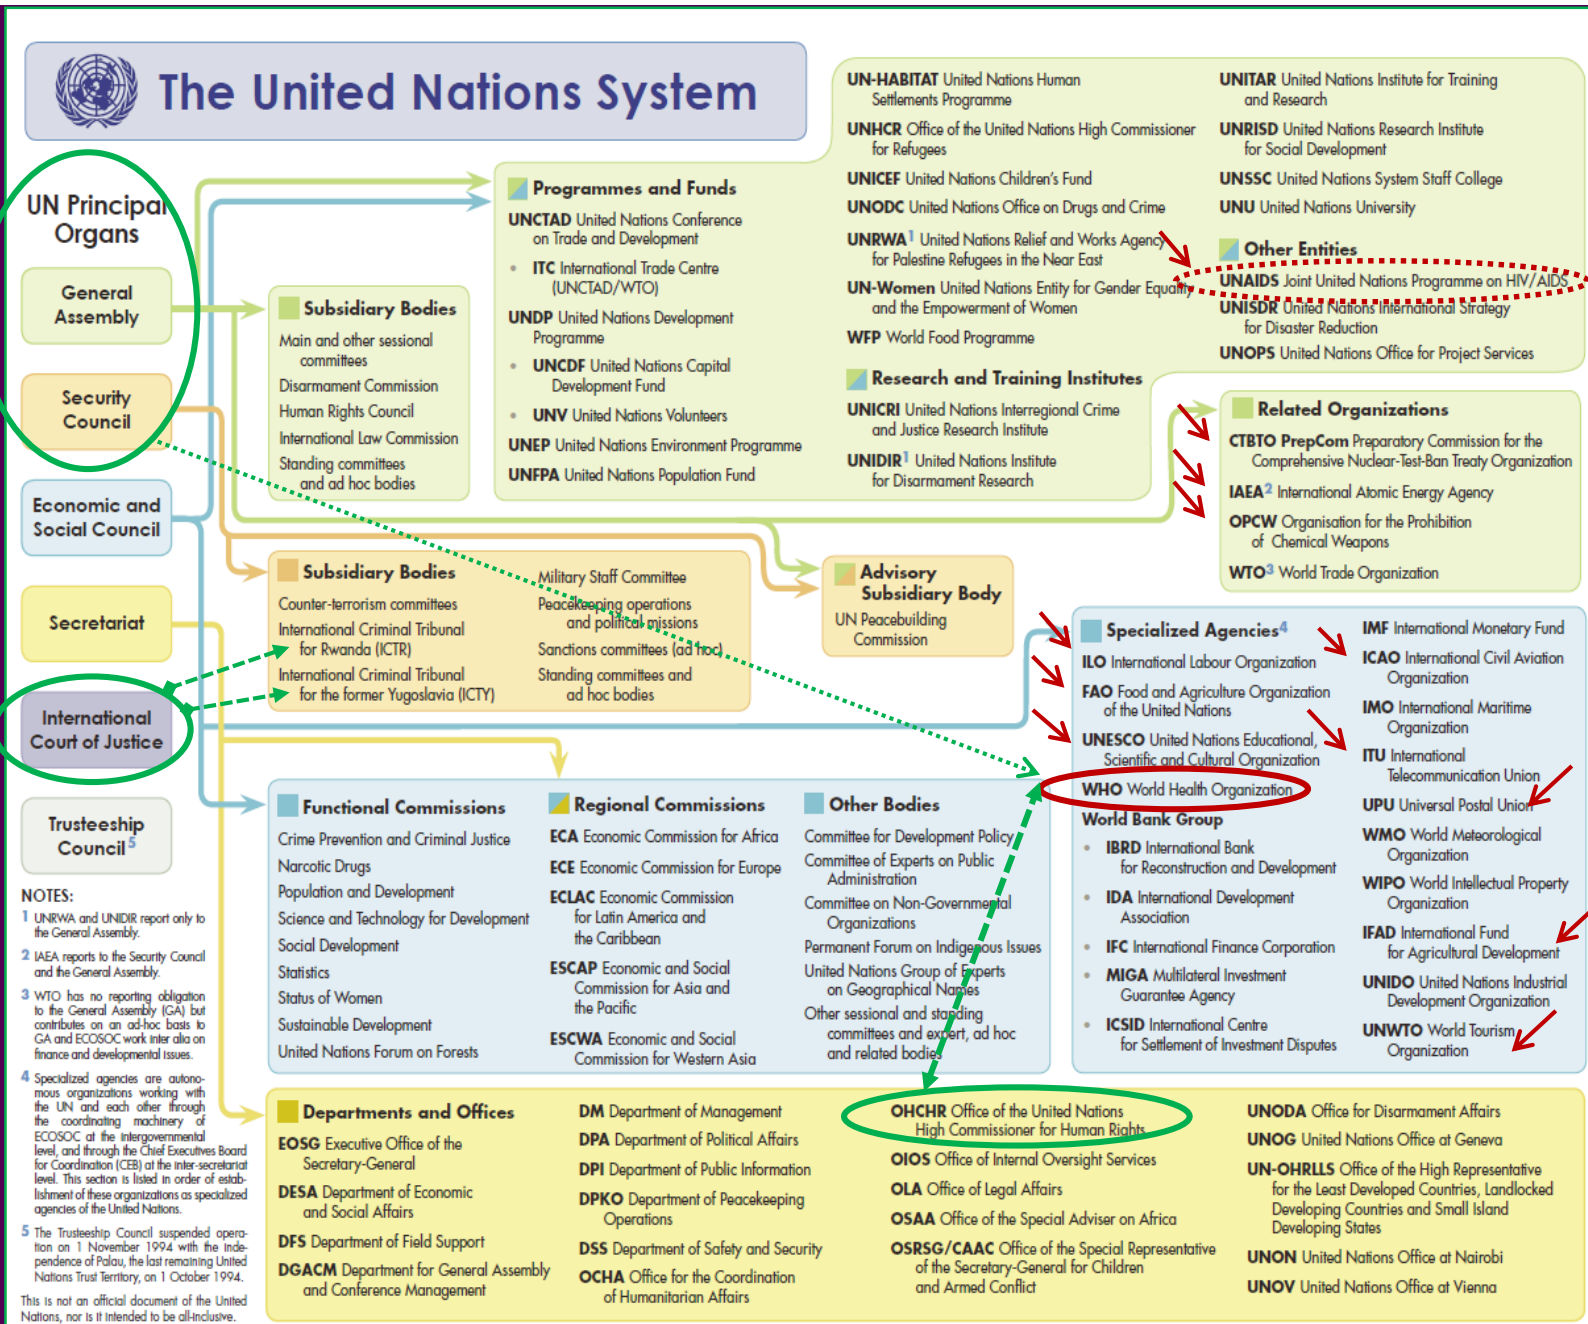

Policy Subjects

The Public

We are the subjects of the policy which cascades down through the GPP system. We largely pay for the system through taxation and public borrowing. The system is designed to exploit us but we are an increasingly unnecessary component as the GPPP look to seize the global commons.

Basic Documents, Forty-fifth edition, Supplement, October 2006

This text replaces that on pages 1-18 of the Forty-fifth edition of Basic Documents, following the coming into force of amendments adopted by the Fifty-first World Health Assembly.

CONSTITUTION OF THE WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION¹

THE STATES Parties to this Constitution declare, in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations, that the following principles are basic to the happiness, harmonious relations and security of all peoples:

Health is a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity.

The enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health is one of the fundamental rights of every human being without distinction of race, religion, political belief, economic or social condition.

The health of all peoples is fundamental to the attainment of peace and security and is dependent upon the fullest co-operation of individuals and States.

The achievement of any State in the promotion and protection of health is of value to all.

Unequal development in different countries in the promotion of health and control of disease, especially communicable disease, is a common danger.

Healthy development of the child is of basic importance; the ability to live harmoniously in a changing total environment is essential to such development.

The extension to all peoples of the benefits of medical, psychological and related knowledge is essential to the fullest attainment of health.

Informed opinion and active co-operation on the part of the public are of the utmost importance in the improvement of the health of the people.

Governments have a responsibility for the health of their peoples which can be fulfilled only by the provision of adequate health and social measures.

ACCEPTING THESE PRINCIPLES, and for the purpose of co-operation among themselves and with others to promote and protect the health of all peoples, the Contracting Parties agree to the present Constitution and ¹ The Constitution was adopted by the International Health Conference held in New York from 19 June to 22 July 1948, signed on 22 July 1948 by the representatives of 61 States (19 of the WHO Region, 2, 106), and entered into force on 7 April 1948. Amendments adopted by the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-ninth, Thirty-ninth and Fifty-first World Health Assembly (resolutions WHA26.10, WHA29.18, WHA39.6 and WHA51.23) came into force on 3 February 1977, 20 January 1984, 11 July 1994 and 15 September 2005 respectively and are incorporated in the present text.

Article 21

The Health Assembly shall have authority to adopt regulations concerning:

- (a) sanitary and quarantine requirements and other procedures designed to prevent the international spread of disease;
- (b) nomenclatures with respect to diseases, causes of death and public health practices;
- (c) standards with respect to diagnostic procedures for international use;
- (d) standards with respect to the safety, purity and potency of biological, pharmaceutical and similar products moving in international commerce;
- (e) advertising and labelling of biological, pharmaceutical and similar products moving in international commerce.

Legal framework of A + B

WHO Constitution with the new IHR will govern the world, superseding all constitutions of all member states
(within 6 to 24 months from “adoption”)

Public participation – For WHO?

- ▶ WHO Constitution: A framework convention or agreement can be adopted under Articles 19-20 and require a 2/3 vote. Regulations can be adopted under Articles 21-22 and require a simple majority. Recommendations can be adopted under Article 23 of the WHO constitution.
- ▶ The Intergovernmental Negotiating Body (INB) meets Monday, July 18, 2022 to Friday July 22, 2022 to discuss the WHO CAI.
- ▶ There were over 36,000 written public comments submitted back in April 2022 and the majority of those comments opposed any form of agreement.
- ▶ The WHO cancelled a previously scheduled public comment period in June 2022.
- ▶ The INB has also stated that public comments will be accepted sometime in September, 2022
- ▶ The INB published a working draft document of the WHO CAI on July 13, 2022 (LAC to unpack this week)
- ▶ The WHO is focused on a concept referred to as “One Health” that seeks to control every aspect of life on earth.
- ▶ Pay attention to Part 4, specifically Section 13 (control of information) and Section 14 (financing) of the working draft.
- ▶ What is missing from the working draft: there is no evaluation of what went wrong over the past 2.5 years; there is no ban on gain of function research; there is very little focus on health treatments and therapies; there is no patient bill of rights; and there is no support for enabling doctors and patients to make their own decisions.
- ▶ Organized opposition to the WHO is needed.

Lobbying – influencing decisions

What does lobbying enable?

Big Pharma crimes

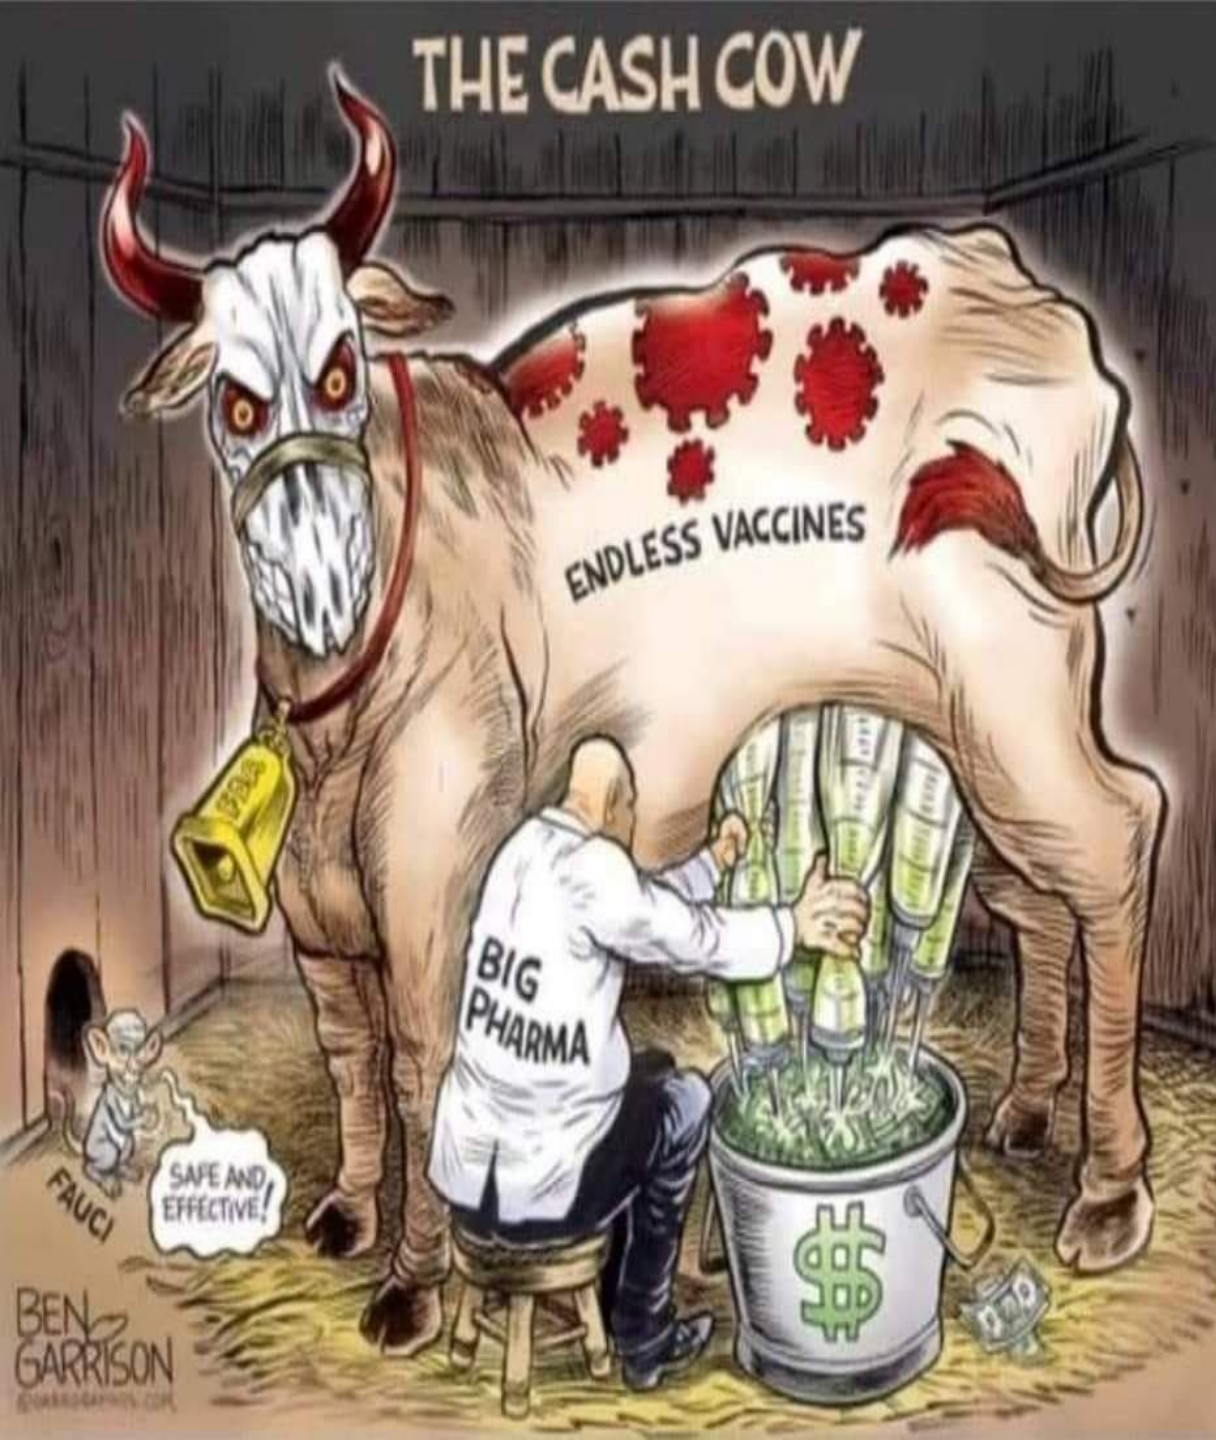

WHO Complicity

LOBBYING

Corruption of regulatory agencies and journals

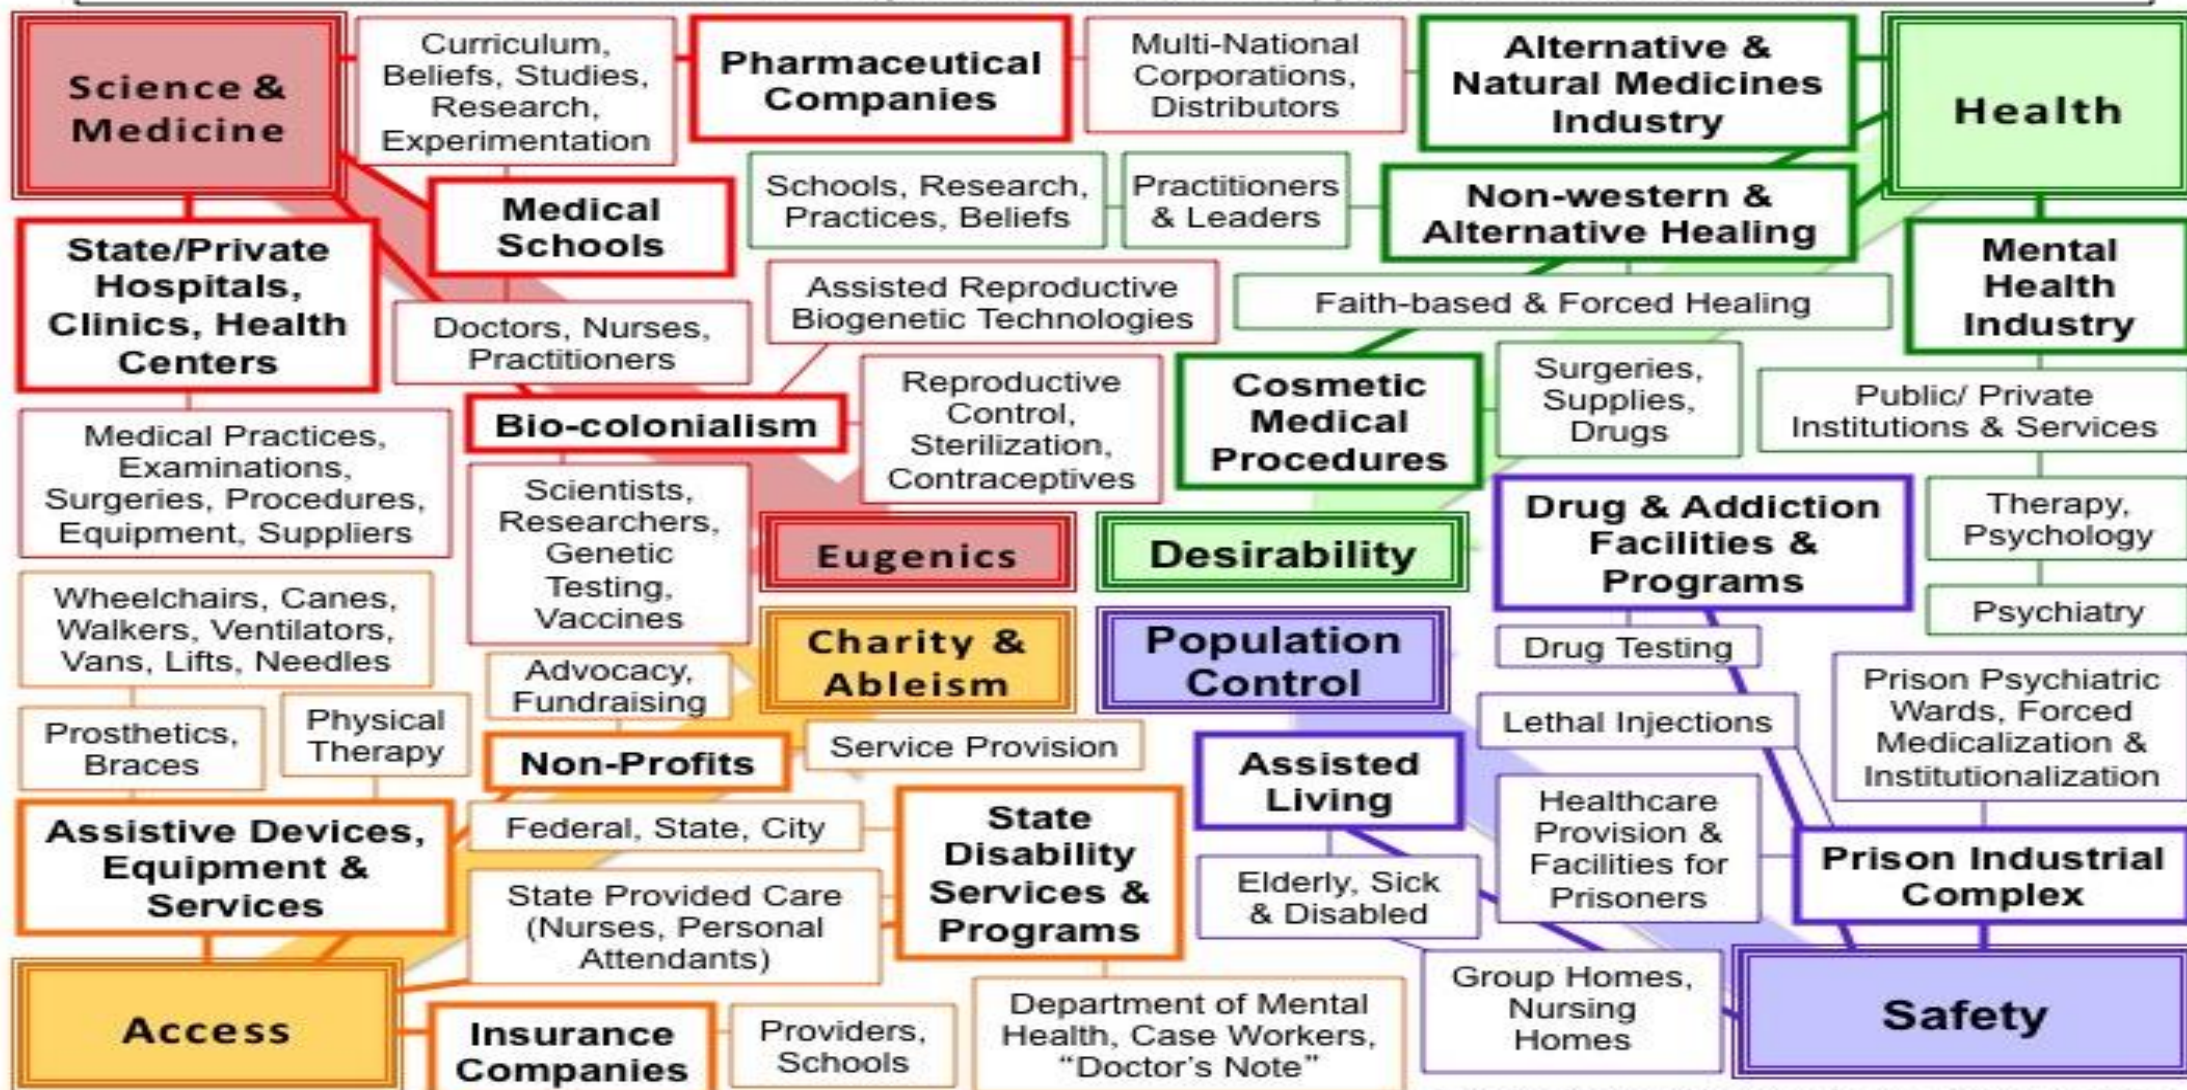

Capture of Govts and Media

THE CASH COW

THE MEDICAL INDUSTRIAL COMPLEX

Profit • Power • Control • Exploitation • Ableism • Oppression • Violence • Trauma

Lobbying – influencing decisions

- ▶ Like other interest groups, major industries and leading corporations seek to influence legislation and regulation, in their case typically to ensure it's as favorable as possible to the bottom line.
- ▶ Corporate political activity can take the form of campaign contributions, but companies and industries also employ lobbyists to make their views known to lawmakers and regulators.
- ▶ The pharmaceutical and health products industry has spent the most on lobbying over the past 24 years. Other industries that spend heavily on lobbying efforts include insurance, electric utilities, electronics manufacturing, and business associations.
- ▶ Pharmaceuticals/Health Products: $5,170,516,263. Spending $5.17 billion over the past 24 years, the pharmaceutical and health products industry has far outpaced all others in lobbying spending. The industry spent a record $356.6 million on lobbying in 2021, nearly 30% more in nominal terms than it did in 2009
- ▶ This includes spending on behalf of drug manufacturers as well as sellers of medical products and nutritional and dietary supplements. The main drugmakers' lobbying group, Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America, remained the biggest spender within the health care sector in 2021 with outlays of $30.4 million.
- ▶ How Much Does Pfizer Spend on Lobbying? In 2021, Pfizer spent $10.3 million on lobbying. It was the fourth-largest political spender within the pharmaceutical/health product industry.¹

Return on investment

THE AMAZING ROI OF CORPORATE LOBBYING

Compare the expected return for every dollar spent lobbying to every dollar spent on an ordinary investment strategy out of the market, even a blue chip stock. It's no wonder $3.5 billion was spent lobbying in 2010.

ROBBER
SOURCE: FOR EVERY DOLLAR
CORPORATE LOBBYING SPENT IN 2010, AN ORDINARY INVESTMENT STRATEGY OUT OF THE MARKET, EVEN A BLUE CHIP STOCK, WOULD HAVE EARNED AN AVERAGE OF 11 CENTS FOR EVERY DOLLAR INVESTED.

An Ordinary American Invests in one BLUE CHIP STOCK

ROI: 11% If you invested in DOW Jones Industrial Average companies in 2000, you would have earned an average of 11 cents for every dollar invested.

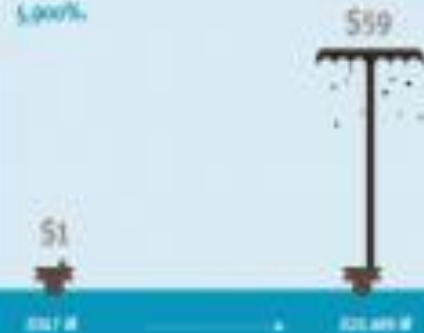

Big Fossil Lobbies for OIL SUBSIDIES

ROI: 5,900%

The oil, gas and coal industry heavily lobbies Washington. During the 111th Congress they gave $347 million in campaign contributions. The same Congress approved over $20 billion in subsidies to the fossil fuel industry.

For every dollar spent on lobbying, $59 were received in subsidies. That's an ROI of 5,900%.

Multinationals Lobby for a corporate TAX BREAK

ROI: 22,000%

In 2004, 93 US corporations lobbied for a temporary tax break to bring their offshore profits back to US banks. They argued that the money saved would be spent on creating jobs.

The companies spent $63 million lobbying for the measure, which passed. Because of it, they paid $43 billion less in taxes. That's an ROI of 22,000%.

(The companies only spent 9% of their savings on new jobs.)

Big Pharma Lobbies to keep DRUG PRICES HIGH

ROI: 77,500%

President Bush created our Federal prescription drug program for seniors in 2003. The pharmaceutical industry spent $34 million lobbying to bar Medicare from bargaining for competitive drug prices.

If Medicare could regulate drug prices, it would save approximately $90 billion a year for prescriptions. That's a 77,500% ROI for the drug companies.

Does lobbying increase bottom line?

Lobbying the media

- ▶ The media is supposed to function as a truth to power pillar of democracy— and a means of giving us information to create the society we want to live in.
- ▶ Media consolidation has narrowed the perspectives the public is privy to, ownership and funding of these corporations is infected with conflicts of interest
- ▶ Key stories that challenge the profit agenda are buried and big tech companies censor and demonetize independent outlets trying to break through the agenda
- ▶ Big pharma advertises in or funds projects within media companies, eg Gates
- ▶ Revolving door between pharma and media – eg Reuters – Thompson and TNI
- ▶ More than two-thirds (69%) of all U.S. news revenue comes from advertising. The concern is this: if the media is so dependent on advertisers to stay afloat, they may bend to those companies' wishes when it comes to editorial decisions.

Case studies – advertisers vs media

- ▶ In a 1992 survey of editors at daily newspapers, a staggering 90% reported that advertisers tried to influence stories and applied economic pressure in response to reporting — and 37% of editors had given in to that advertiser pressure.
- ▶ A 2000 Pew Research and Columbia Journalism Review survey found that 30% of journalists admit to purposely avoiding newsworthy stories or “softening the tone” of stories that could adversely affect advertisers.
- ▶ A 2013 study of U.S. daily newspapers showed that conflicts between the business and journalism sides of these operations are rampant. Advertising directors at chain-owned newspapers and small newspapers were more likely to support compromising editorial integrity in order to please or avoid riling advertisers.
- ▶ A 2009 study revealed that whether due to overt pressures or a subconscious desire to please advertisers, publishers tend to give their sponsors special treatment.
- ▶ In a 2021 Mass Communication & Society study, most editors admitted that they feel advertisers pose a significant source of pressure on the newsroom.
- ▶ A 1992 study examined this potential influence and found dozens of examples where news organizations buried stories out of fear of offending advertisers. Some of them didn't even attempt to deny or hide it. The Arkansas Democrat-Gazette had outright told a columnist not to criticize advertisers, and at the time, the managing editor said: “We do not hire opinion writers to trash advertisers ... No newspaper would do that.”

JAM VS IFC – US SC

- Jam v. International Finance Corp., 586 U.S. ___ (2019), was a United States Supreme Court case =
- The Supreme Court ruled that international organizations, such as the World Bank Group's financing arm, the International Finance Corporation, can be sued in US federal courts for conduct arising from their commercial activities.
- It specifically held that international organizations shared the same sovereign immunity as foreign governments.
- This was a reversal from existing jurisprudence, which held that international organizations (unlike foreign governments) had near-absolute immunity from lawsuits under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act and the International Organizations Immunities Act.

CUBAN DOCTORS VS PAHO

- Cuban physicians pressed into service to treat poor patients in Brazil can proceed with a suit to hold the Pan American Health Organization liable for its role in facilitating a program that allegedly violated human trafficking laws because the group doesn't have immunity, the D.C. Circuit said
- The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act's "commercial activity" exception applied to wrest PAHO of immunity for brokering Brazil's "Mais Médicos" program, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit said.
- The court affirmed a judgment denying PAHO's motion to dismiss the suit on the ground that it's immune under the International Organizations Immunity Act

CUBAN DOCTORS VS PAHO

- In a victory for human rights, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld the right of victims of a human-trafficking network to sue a subsidiary of the United Nations' World Health Organization in a U.S. court. The decision is a warning to the U.N. to clean up its act.
- The four Cuban doctors who filed the class-action suit against the Pan American Health Organization allege they became forced labor under a 2013-18 contract between Cuba and Brazil. The plaintiffs claim that PAHO acted as financial intermediary for the two parties, using its U.S. bank accounts to convert Brazilian reais to dollars and move the money to the Cuban regime.
- “PAHO collected hundreds of millions of dollars every year from Brazil and it remitted 85% to Cuba, paid 10% or less to the doctors, and kept 5% for itself,” the lawsuit alleges.
- PAHO argued that the case should be dismissed because the International Organization Immunity Act protects it from lawsuits. But in November 2020 Judge James Boasberg found that PAHO is not entitled to “absolute” immunity when allegations involve commercial activity in the U.S.
